Varsity Guest Weekend

On 10 and 11 March the campus will be the scene of Varsity Guest Weekend '79.

The traditional campus open house was revived by the Students' Union last year and, encouraged by its success, the students have again gone to work to open the University's doors to the public. Says student Ian Fraser who is acting as director of VGW '79, "All has been done with one objective in mind: to show what the University of Alberta has to offer."

During the weekend, the faculties will use special displays, demonstrations, lectures, and films to illustrate their offerings. Two of the films which will be featured focus on energy sources: The Turning Point deals with man's search for new energy sources, and The Sand Barrier is an entertaining and educational film which takes the viewer behind the scenes at Syncrude.

In addition, issues of topical interest are to be explored in a special guest lecture to be given by Toronto economist Mel Watkins and in a forum featuring the candidates in the Edmonton Strathcona riding (confirmation of attendance has yet to be received from the candidates, but organizers are optimistic).

A variety of other activities will ensure that things are kept lively. Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing until 5 p.m., the Forestry students will be staging their annual Man of the Klondike contest in Varsity Stadium where teams from as far away as Laval University will be competing in a variety of logging sports competitions.

"The Search for Early Man" is an exhibit that will be on display in the Department of Anthropology during Varsity Guest Weekend. Later the exhibit will be moved to the Foyer of Rutherford South.

At noon on Saturday, a 12-hour Charity Dance Marathon will commence in Dinwoodie Lounge in the Students' Union Building. The event is being organized by the Pan Hellenic Society, the association of the women's fraternities on campus. The dancers, including some well-known invited entrants, will be sponsored by the hour and the proceeds are to go to WINhouse, a temporary home for battered wives with children.

Sunday, beginning at 10 a.m. and continuing until 4 p.m., the Central Academic Building will be the setting for a Band Showcase featuring popular local rock bands.

Some of the most popular displays are likely to be those of the Computing Science and Electrical Engineering Departments. The former will be an all-new exhibition of computing at the University featuring equipment tours, the application of computers to the University's energy control program, computer games, and Eliza, a computerized psychologist who reads and analyses typed-in questions and gives verbal responses. Vying for popularity with Eliza will be

J-Omega, the electrical engineers' own robot. J-Omega and a unique method of cooking hot dogs will highlight the Electrical Engineering display.

At the University Art Gallery, which will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, there will be two featured exhibitions, Creative Clothing and a display of paintings from the University of Calgary.

Information about the activities of VGW '79 is being disseminated in a special tabloid prepared for the weekend and now being distributed on campus. □

Vice-President (Academic)

Even though some members of the Search Committee have not been named as yet, nominations for the position of Vice-President (Academic) or indications of interest in the position should be made during the next two weeks by writing to Dr. Horowitz, Vice-President (Academic) and Chairman of the Search Committee, 3-5 University Hall. Both male and female members of staff are invited to apply. □

Resusci-Anne Dolls Donated to Nursing

The donation of two Resusci-Anne Dolls by the Southgate Lions Club of Edmonton to the Faculty of Nursing constitutes further expansion of the interface of the University and the wider community.

The dolls will be used in the teaching of cardiopulmonary resuscitation practices. "It's a donation which is so important to the teaching of a skill that has become increasingly more important in the nursing discipline," says Sandra MacDonald, an Assistant Professor who convinced the Lions of the Faculty's need for such equipment.

Approximately 120 students per academic year plus an unknown number enrolled in continuing education courses will use the dolls which are described as "delicate pieces of machinery." Each doll is valued at $1,030, weighs about 27 kg, is about 1.5 m in height and is made of plastic. They are not just models but models that give feedback, says Professor MacDonald in explaining the battery-operated system which records the work of each student. Beneath the removable chest pieces are lights which indicate proper ventilation (green), proper compression (yellow), and injurious performance (red). The latter signal could relate to a variation in the amount of pressure applied (36 kg is necessary for proper circulation) or the fact that the student's hands are improperly positioned.

Neck pulse and constriction of pupils can be simulated and a spring mechanism for compression tapes gives a printout of the student's performance. Each tape costs $2.50 and last about one hour. A student has to produce a tape of two to three minutes duration which shows satisfactory work and take a written test. Twelve hours are required for certification in the course and four students train with a doll during each session.

All parts are replaceable and, by virtue of a grant from the 3AU Fund in the amount of the cost of the Resusci-Anne Dolls, the Faculty can purchase equipment of a similar or related nature.

Resusci-Anne Dolls are manufactured primarily in Norway and have been on the market for about four years. The story is that the face of each doll resembles the face of the daughter of the inventor of Resusci-Anne Dolls. The girl was drowned and, at the time of her death, was wearing a sweatsuit and sneakers, the same apparel with which each Resusci-Anne Doll is outfitted.

The official presentation of the dolls to the Faculty will take place on 12 March. As well as being used extensively in the Faculty, the dolls will be taken to northern Alberta and the Northwest Territories to facilitate the teaching of cardiopulmonary resuscitation techniques by Faculty of Nursing staff in small communities. □

Board of Governors

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Governors took place on Friday, 2 March. The open portion of the meeting was not over long, being devoted for the most part to house-keeping matters. The Board Building Committee reported on the actions taken at its last meeting in February (see Folio, 1 March) and the Finance Committee made recommendations with respect to the Exchange Graduate Student Program, and a budget change request for the Department of Chemistry.

The Academic Concerns Committee reported on its appointment of William B. McGill as chairman of the Department of Soil Science and of David B. Cass as chairman of the Department of Botany (see page three). The Committee also reported its approval of the re-appointment of F.L. Jackson to the chair of Medical Bacteriology for a five-year term and T.A.S. Boyd as chairman of the Department of Ophthalmology with a four-year term, both effective from 1 July 1979. The Academic Concerns Committee, in addition, recommended and received Board approval for the change in nomenclature of the Department of

Lecture Series Award

L.D. Nelson has been selected as the first recipient of the Faculty of Education's new Lecture Series Award. The award was introduced as a means of supporting, encouraging, and publicizing educational research within the Faculty.

A six month leave of absence will be made available to Dr. Nelson commencing 1 July 1979, during which time he will be expected to continue his research activities and prepare a public presentation which will be delivered in January 1980. A requirement common to each yearly award presentation is that the recipients will be expected to devote at least one session to outlining the significance of their research for teaching and/or teacher preparation.

The award is limited to members of the Faculty of Education and is intended to identify and reward those individuals who have been engaged in educational research. There are three criteria for the Award. The recipient must have gained a reputation among leading scholars as a significant contributor to the advancement of knowledge in their field through the development and pursuit of a sustained program of research. The recipient must have disseminated his or her findings through the presentation of papers, the publication of articles in refereed journals or books, and he or she must have identified a worthwhile research undertaking which can be both significantly advanced and reported as a result of the Award.

Dr. Nelson has been a member of the Faculty since 1959, coming to the University following experience as a teacher, a principal, and a superintendent in Alberta. He has gained international recognition for his research in mathematics education, particularly for his work dealing with the problem-solving strategies of young children. Dr. Nelson is known both for his work in curriculum development and in research. In addition to his work as a scholar, Dr. Nelson has been active in the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics. Among his more recent activities with the Council has been his service as a member of the Board of Directors and editor of a recent yearbook. He is co-author of a recently published series of mathematics textbooks for the elementary grades and the author of a larger number of published papers.

During the tenure of his leave, Dr. Nelson will further his research on children's problem solving with the intention of presenting his findings on the value of his research model. □

The Chancellor, Mrs. Forest, also reported that the formal installation of Dr. Horowitz as President would take place on Thursday, 13 September, in SUB Theatre. The choice of location, Mrs. Forest said, was the explicit desire of Dr. Horowitz.

The meeting of the Governors was then followed by a presentation of the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research and lunch at the invitation of the Graduate Students' Association in the North Power Plant.

Appointments

William B. McGill has been appointed to the chair of the Department of Soil Science with a five year term of office beginning on 1 July 1979. Dr. McGill is a Canadian citizen born in 1945. He received his baccalaureate and master degrees at the University of Manitoba and his PhD at the University of Saskatchewan. First appointed to the staff of the University in 1971 as an Assistant Professor, he gained tenure at the time he became an Associate Professor in 1975.

David B. Cass of the Department of Botany will become that department's new chairman on 1 July 1979. He will serve a five year term. Dr. Cass, a Landed Immigrant, was born in the United States in 1938 and received his tertiary education at Butler University and the University of Oklahoma. He became an employee of this University in 1969 with the rank of Assistant Professor. In 1973 Dr. Cass was awarded tenure and in 1974 became Associate Professor. □

General Faculties Council

The regular monthly meeting of GFC was held on Monday, 19 February. The following matters were among those discussed.

New Member

GFC received the name of E.A. Cossins of the Department of Botany as an elected member of Council, with a term of office to expire on 30 June 1980. Dr. Cossins, who is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, gained his PhD from the University of London before joining the staff of this University in 1962. He was appointed Professor in the Department of Botany in 1969.

University Priorities

The first item of business at the 19 February meeting of Council was consideration of Recommendation 9 of the University Priorities Committee. This matter had been deferred at the special meeting of Council on 22 January (see Folio, 1 February). The Recommendation was to the effect that a permanent policy of position control be established and applied to the filling of academic staff vacancies. The Board of Governors agreed not to discuss Recommendation 9 at its regular meeting on 2 February, but rather to postpone appraisal of the recommendation until GFC had considered the issue. Dr. Horowitz, acting as Chairman in the President's absence, read Recommendation 9, as it had been amended by the GFC Executive Committee to include the application of position control policies to the non-academic staff at the University. The recommendation proposed read as follows, with italics indicating the Executive Committee's amendments:

"That an enunciated, permanent policy of position control be applied to the filling of vacancies which occur among permanent academic and non-academic positions, and the establishment of any new permanent positions. The policy should be administered by the Vice-President (Academic) (for academic staff) and the Vice-President (Finance and Administration) (for non- academic positions) under the direction of the University Planning Committee." The motion to accept the recommendation was then placed on the floor by Professor Munn (Music) and seconded by Mr. Bhattacharya (Commerce-1). Discussion was initiated by a question posed by Dean Baldwin (Arts), who wondered whether or not it would be appropriate for the Vice-President (Finance and Administration) to be responsible for the non-academic staff portion of the recommendation. It was Dr. Baldwin's view that, in the teaching units at least, non-academic staff are vital to the health of the academic units and that, as a result, the Vice-President (Academic) should be responsible for the application of a position control policy to non-academic staff. Dr. Horowitz concurred with the sentiment of Dean Baldwin's comments and pointed out that a position control policy had been in effect since April 1978 under the direction of a committee chaired by the Vice-President (Academic). That policy had been applied to both groups of employees with the result that some 40 academic positions and some 100 non-academic positions had not been filled in the current academic year—"a difficult, deplorable decision," according to Dr. Horowitz, who said that the policy is "one we have to live with in times of real emergency."

Eventually, after much discussion, an amended motion was approved to the effect that "an enunciated policy of position control be applied to the filling of vacancies which occur among permanent academic and non-academic positions, and the establishment of any new permanent positions. The policy should be administered by the Vice-President (Academic) under the direction of the University Planning Committee."

After dealing with Recommendation 9, GFC turned its attention to Recommendation 8 and the various motions tabled at the end of the special meeting on 22 January which concerned the detailed reviews proposed for academic program units. After some discussion, the following motion was accepted by GFC as an integral part of the recommendation agreed to by GFC in January: that "1. A system of academic program evaluations be considered at the University of Alberta. 2. The terms of reference for the evaluations to be worked out by Academic Development Committee in collaboration with Deans' Council and in consultation with others in the University community. 3. The terms of reference for the evaluations be filed with the Secretary of GFC no later than 5 October 1979."

Finally, having dealt with Recommendation 8 of the Final Report of the University Priorities Committee, Council considered a motion placed on the floor by Miss Hume, President of the Students' Union. Miss Hume moved that a preamble be attached to the recommendations as they had been revised by GFC. The motion, which was carried, read thus:

"While financial monitoring and planning are necessary, the question to which the recommendations of the Priorities Committee are addressed is fundamentally one of inadequate funding. We do not believe that any internal reallocation of resources or system of priorities can prevent the negative impact of inadequate funding on the academic quality of this institution. Acceptance of the following recommendations must not constitute a passive acceptance of the present government's funding policies nor must it silence criticism of these policies. We must continue to request increased funding."

Academic Standings: Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce

Council considered and approved the following recommendations emanating from the Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce:

"1. That the Faculty of Business Administration and Commerce use grade point averages rather than quality index for determining promotion categories for students of the Faculty;

2. That applications for admission to the Bachelor of Commerce program will normally be considered only once per calendar year immediately following the mid-summer application deadline."

Service Courses: GFC Policy
Council considered the following letter, dated 4 January 1979, from the Deans of Agriculture and Forestry, Business Administration and Commerce, Engineering, Home Economics, and Nursing: "Service courses, offered by outside faculties, form significant portions of the total programs in many faculties. These service portions are not composed of electives, taken on the basis of free choice by the student. Rather, they are essential portions of the serviced faculties' programs, may be established specifically for that faculty, and invariably form a core on which specific applications are constructed. As increases in knowledge cause pressures to squeeze additional material into the curricula, the effectiveness of the service portions must come under closer and closer scrutiny.

The present policy with respect to service courses is based primarily on the 'Report of the GFC Ad Hoc Committee on Service Courses (1971)', although some particular statements have their origins in reports dated 1966 and 1961. At the present time, facing the prospect of severely limited resources, we believe it is essential that the service component of a faculty's curriculum be made an effective, rational part of the whole.

To this end, we are writing to propose that GFC strike a small ad hoc committee to consider: (1) the extent and nature of current problems being experienced by faculties with respect to required service courses; (2) whether there are common elements in the problems being encountered; (3) the establishment of clear guidelines for the administration of required service courses." On the recommendation of the GFC Executive Committee, therefore, Council approved the establishment of an ad hoc committee on service courses. The committee will be composed of one graduate student, four undergraduate students from separate Faculties, and five faculty members from separate Faculties to represent both serviced and service Faculties. The terms of reference of the committee are as follows: "To consult with each faculty to consider: (1) the extent and nature of current problems being experienced by faculties with respect to required service courses; (2) whether there are common elements in the problems being encountered; (3) the review of present guidelines and proposals for new guidelines if necessary.

GFC Library Committee: Revised Composition

After much discussion at the Council meeting on 19 February, and a great deal of heart searching at earlier meetings of GFC, GFC Executive, and the Library Committee, Council approved a revised composition for its Library Committee. In addition to the three ex officio members (an Associate Dean of Graduate Studies and Research, the Librarian to The University, and the Vice-President [Academic]), there will be two undergraduate student members, both from the University-at-large, and nine academic staff members with a maximum of two from any Faculty and no more than one from any Department and a maximum of two non-teaching [Academic staff] members. □

Research Grants

New Research Programs

The Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council has announced a series of new programs to promote research in areas of national interest. For the first year the Council has selected two themes: the aging population and research resources. At the same time, the Council invites the contributions of the research community to help in the identification of other areas of national importance.

The following information gives a brief indication of the nature of the programs. For further information contact the Secretariat of the Council: 255 Albert Street P.O. Box 1610 Ottawa K1P 6G4 (613) 995-9330

Aging Population

1. Special Research Grants: these provide support to research on any aspect of the aging population.
2. Post-doctoral Awards: these provide aid to young scholars who wish to undertake research or specialized study in any aspect of the aging population.
3. Re-orientation Grants: these provide support to researchers with full-time university appointments who wish to orient their research towards study of the aging population.
4. Research Workshops: these provided the opportunity for scholars to develop research skills and to introduce themselves to new research areas in the field of the aging population.
5. Institutional Grants: awards may be provided to university research centres which are already carrying out work on aspects of population aging.
6. Research initiatives: the Council will consider applications for the funding of feasibility studies for research in a defined area or applications for funding of research programs that do not fit within the previously mentioned categories.

Research Resources

The support of research resources has two distinct aspects. Funds will be provided to strengthen special collections already existing in University libraries, and Funds will also be provided in a category termed "fleeting opportunities." When fleeting opportunities arise to augment already existing areas of collection strength this fund may be applied to.

Granting Agencies: Application Deadlines

This list of deadline dates for submissions to granting agencies for research funds, exchange programs, and travel grants is published every month in Folio. To allow sufficient time for processing, all applications should reach the Research Grants and Contracts Office at least ten days before the deadline date. Where other University resources are involved, the time may be much longer than ten days and such applications should be submitted well in advance.
